The Toady of the "Union."

The Union seems very anxious to play oady to the Catholics by telling them that they were insulted by THE ARGUS on Saturday. The editor of the Union shows lamentable ignorance of the views of the Catholic clergy, as all good church-going christians of the Catholic faith deplore the exhibition of rowdyism which sometimes follows a big turn-out at a funeral, and are always glad to see it exposed and punished. None but rowdies who nominally bear the Catholic name, but who absent themselves from church and from their christian duties, are likely to feel insulted when the conduct of such fellows is exposed and punished. In the Union's desire to have somebody censure THE ARGUS it has shown itself a fawnining toady, and made a conspicious failure.

It Resorts to a Sneaking Dodge. On Saturday, the Union, under the heading "The Saloon Fines," said : We are surpressed to notice that one of the num-ber fined for selling intoxicating beverages without a license complains of the administration.

The Union then went on to say that the saloon keeprs who had not taken out license were notified personally and through the official organ to do so, about ten days had been sickly from its birth. ago. We doubted if any such notice was published, and asked for dates, etc. Yesterday morning the Union published the following as an answer to our call

Now, we ask any fair-minded man if the above would naturally be regarded as a "notice to saloon keepers?"
